Josephs-Hospital Warendorf makes plans to restructure and secure its future as a debtor in possession

17 December 2024 · Münster · Business Area: Insolvency Administration

Josephs-Hospital Warendorf (JHW) yesterday filed for debtor-in-possession proceedings with the Local Court of Münster, as the competent court. The court approved the application and ordered provisional debtor-in-possession proceedings. PLUTA attorney Mr Stefan Meyer has been appointed provisional insolvency monitor.

“The necessary and sensible investments of recent years, amounting to a considerable sum, have put a significant strain on the liquidity of our structurally sound hospital. In view of this and taking into consideration the increasing problems in the health system and the insufficient funding allocated to hospitals through statutory provisions, we will reposition our establishment using the options available to us by law,” said Mr Peter Goerdeler, chief executive of Josephs-Hospital Warendorf. He and his fellow Board member Mr Michael von Helden will still retain their full powers of administration and disposition during the proceedings.

The application will not disrupt the functioning of Josephs-Hospital Warendorf, which will continue to operate without restriction. “Medical, nursing and therapeutic care will be maintained without exception. Our patients, their families and the users of our facilities can rest assured that all services will be delivered as before, in full and to the usual level of quality,” stressed Mr Goerdeler. He made it clear that JHW is structurally very well positioned, a view also reinforced by the positive results of state hospital requirement planning.

Debtor-in-possession proceedings are in-court restructuring proceedings in which the necessary restructuring measures are intended to be drawn up and implemented quickly with the aim of ensuring the long-term viability of the company in question in the interests of all stakeholders. In light of the complexity of debtor-in-possession proceedings and the legal challenges associated with them, Josephs-Hospital Warendorf will now be supported by attorney Dr Claus-Peter Kruth, a restructuring expert from law firm AndresPartner, as restructuring agent. Together with his expert team at AndresPartner, he has already successfully assisted a multitude of companies undergoing restructuring processes, including Katholische Nord-Kreis Kliniken in Jülich. “Debtor-in-possession proceedings are a proven instrument for the sustainable realignment of companies. We will hold discussions with all key stakeholders in the weeks ahead and press on with our plans to restructure JHW and secure its future,” said Dr Kruth, a specialist attorney for insolvency and restructuring law, explaining the actions to be taken. He is clear in his assessment that Josephs-Hospital Warendorf can be put on a viable footing based on, among other things, its high utilisation, successful specialisation in recent years and highly qualified workforce.
