

Press Release

PLUTA attorney Dr Laubereau appointed provisional administrator for owner of Trianon commercial skyscraper

25 June 2024 · Frankfurt, Germany · Business Area: Insolvency Administration

Geschäftshaus am Gendarmenmarkt GmbH, the company that owns the Trianon commercial skyscraper in Frankfurt am Main, has filed for insolvency. Yesterday, the competent local court then ordered provisional insolvency administration for the company's assets and appointed Dr Stephan Laubereau from PLUTA Rechtsanwalts GmbH as provisional administrator.

The insolvency petition is based on the real estate company's liquidity problems. Insolvency expert Dr Laubereau is currently in the process of gaining an overview of the situation and is already holding initial discussions with management and the financing banks.

The PLUTA attorney said, "The proceedings are complex. The initial discussions have been very constructive. The aim is to ensure operations relating to the commercial skyscraper continue as seamlessly as possible in the interests of tenants and creditors."

Dr Stephan Laubereau has been an insolvency administrator since 2000 and has already taken care of numerous real estate proceedings, such as insolvency
